Academic Advising

1. Brief History of the Gokongwei College of Engineering (GCOE) Academic Advising
   In response to the high ineligibility rate in GCOE, the college reintroduced the academic advising program during 2014-2015 academic year. To date, the GCOE academic advising is being held every 7th week to 9th week of the term prior to enrollment for the following term.

2. Objectives of the Academic Advising
   - To assist the students in monitoring and evaluating their academic performance
   - To advise the students on the selection of courses
   - To refer students to special university services as appropriate
   - To help students understand their career goals and determine if it is consistent with their interests and abilities

3. Assignment of Academic Advisers
   - The Vice Chairperson of the department will assign students (academic advisees) to full-time faculty members (academic advisers) of the department
   - All full-time faculty members will serve as academic advisers of GCOE students
   - Academic advisers will be introduced to their academic advisees during the freshmen convocation

4. Roles and Responsibilities of Academic Advisers
   - Academic advisers must be familiar with the Student Handbook Policies especially on attendance, examinations, crediting, grading and retention, and trimestral and graduation honors. The Student Handbook can be found here: DLSU Student Handbook.
   - Proactively contact and be available for student advisees on a regular basis. Consultation hours must be posted on the departments' bulletin boards and website and preferably given to the advisees during the first two weeks of the term
   - For freshmen, academic advisers must meet with their advisees during the freshmen convocation and to assist their advisees with initial adjustment to university academic life. Must be available for special consultation schedules during the first academic year, if necessary
   - For the upperclassmen, academic advisers must meet their advisees at least once each trimester to plan for the coming trimester and to review and revise the study plans if necessary
   - Advise and guide students on the proper sequencing of courses (observing the rules on pre-requisite and maximum study load per term), and the students' readiness to enroll the given course.
   - Maintain an up-to-date Advising Portfolio (Academic Advising Booklet), with a summary record of performance to date (grade reports, transcript, requirements completed, etc).

- Inform and, if necessary, refer students to other institutional resources when academic, attitudinal, attendance, or other personal problems require intervention by other professionals. (e.g., Office of Career and Counseling Services (OCCS), Student Discipline and Formation Office (SDFO), etc.).
- For career and graduate school options, advisers should refer advisees to OCCS or RASD when more information is needed.

5. Roles and Responsibilities of Advisee

The advisee is an equal partner in the advising process. He/she must be ultimately responsible for his/her educational choices and decisions. He/she is expected to:

- contact and schedule regular appointments with his/her adviser each trimester as required or when in need of assistance;
- prepare for advising sessions and bring appropriate materials like the course flowchart and MyLasalle curriculum audit print outs;
- come prepared to his/her advising session with a planned schedule for the forthcoming trimester;
- become knowledgeable and adhere to institutional policies, procedures, and requirements stipulated in the student handbook (e.g.trimestral honors, graduation honors and retention policies);
- access and use MyLasalle Account for academic updates, information updating, enrolment, curriculum audit, and other purposes;
- always read DLSU email account and other important communications from the university and academic adviser.
